@WimboldsleyCPS

What a great first week back it has been! From Early Years right through to Year 6 it has been lovely to see everyone back in the swing of things with some phenomenal examples of learning from pencil techniques in art to scientific predictions and enquiry via experiments - school is just a hive of energy once more. The wet weather hasn't deterred anyone from enjoying the outdoors in learning and play and we continue to be as prepared as we can be here in school when it comes to the wetter (and often muddier) weather! Thank you for your cooperation too - it's not always easy dealing with dirty clothes and uniforms but the children (although trying their best) seem to take it all in their stride and certainly have a more 'mud is good' approach! It won't be long I am sure before the cooler air and frost starts to set in and things become a lot more manageable - even if not as enjoyable as the mud can sometimes be!

Parents evening consultations

Hopefully you are all aware of the parents evening being held on Monday 27th November 2023. We were very aware of some of the school spider technical issues that were present at the time of booking and we hope we have managed to accommodate or support you if you did indeed face difficulties with these bookings. We will not leave anyone out so please don't hesitate to contact us in school should you need any further help with ensuring you get an appointment to discuss how your child/ren have settled into the new school year.

TB Coaching

Football coaching sessions literally 'kicked off' this week on Thursday and the pupils who have signed up to these varied sessions on offer seemed to be really enjoying this time with Coach Tom. As I walked around I was not just impressed with their football skills but also their listening skills, attitude and determination. As always, what great examples of what Wimboldsley pupils are all about. You are a credit to our school!

On the last Wednesday of half term Green team were able to come into school in non-uniform as their reward for being team point champions for Autumn 1 half term! Who do we think will be Autumn 2s winners? Keep up the hard work red, yellow, green and blue - this could be your half term!

SCHOOL COUNCIL

This week, we have been busy launching our new school council. Each year group have elected two members for the school year.

Well done to those elected. We know you will represent our school wonderfully.

Year 3 - Will and Anya Year 6 - Sam and Daisy

End of term disco

The end of term school disco was another great success and a wonderful way to finish for the half term break - where did that week go?! Everyone certainly had their dancing shoes on and there were definitely some future contestants for Dancing with the Stars!
